Kill Creek Streamway Trail

Development of Kill Creek Streamway Park is part of the Johnson County Parks and Recreation District’s ongoing efforts to create linear parks along major streams. In addition to conserving drainage systems, assisting with flood control, and reducing property damage, the Streamway Parks System provides trails and open spaces for such leisure pursuits such as biking, jogging, picnicking and nature hiking. The park also features a 16-acre off-leash area for dogs, located adjacent to the 95th Street access point and parking lot.

The park currently consists of two separate segments of paved, shared-use trail totaling a little less than seven miles. Long-term plans call for connecting the existing segments and extending the trail from the Kansas River all the way to Gardner, Kansas.
