Prairie Creek Greenway

Scenery and wildlife are abundant on the Prairie Creek Greenway, located just south of Platte City, Missouri. The picturesque, four-mile trail was built in partnership with local developers through the donation of land and construction services.

Officially opened on National Trails Day 2006, the greenway is popular for both biking and walking. Pedestrian access is available from several subdivisions along the trail. Future phases of the trail plan include a 7.8-mile enclosed loop.
