

Public Service Workforce System Support

Ashley Z. Hand, AIA | Director Local Government Services

Sept. 23, 2025

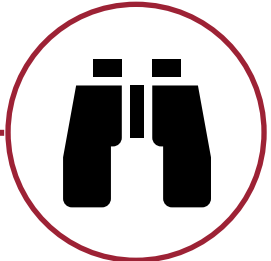

Advancing Opportunity

Objectives:

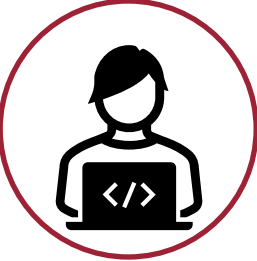

1. Clarify the options by creating a single point of entry to exploring careers within area local governments.
2. Reduce barriers with targeted engagement between hiring managers and applicants, particularly among black and brown communities.
3. Pilot a program to connect workforce development efforts to job opportunities.

Connecting to Meaningful Opportunity

Make it easy to find open opportunities in public service.

- Re-launch a regional job board for open positions in public service, updated daily and automated in some cases (up to 100 organizations).
- Search by qualifications and preferences (e.g. co-location with other services such as early childhood and adult/aging services, transportation options, etc.).
- Connect pipeline (area schools, training programs, other workforce development) to site.
- Build for multi-lingual access and work with participating organizations on their ADA compliance.

BUILD

Connecting to Meaningful Opportunity

Support best practices through convening, coaching and troubleshooting.

- Local governments need to ensure ADA compliance with few resources for updating webpages and online documents.
- Shared expertise can help local government meet upcoming federal deadlines, as required.
- Use storytelling to humanize public service and represent the diversity of people working to support our communities.
- Improving regional and local government website functionality will improve access for a multitude of users.

ENGAGE

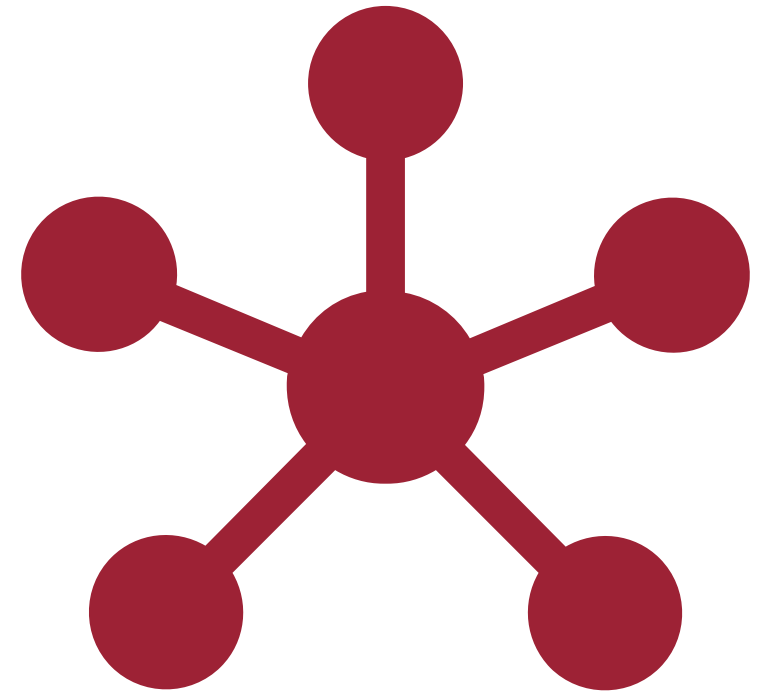

Connecting to Meaningful Opportunity

Foster connections between resources across the MARC region.

- Develop resources such as an internship board, career profiles, etc. to educate the community on options within public service.
- Engage with area workforce programs, training and educational institutions to attract potential applicants.
- Deliverables to include a new website and strategy for future development and ongoing maintenance.

The Government-2-University (G2U) Committee co-chairs are eager to connect area career services to a regional database of open positions.

CONNECT

Welcome to the place to find public service opportunities in the Kansas City region.
