QUALITATIVE ASPECTS OF ACCOUNTING PRACTICES (CONTINUED)

ACCOUNTING ESTIMATES

Accounting estimates are an integral part of the financial statements prepared by management and are based on management's knowledge and experience about past and current events and assumptions about future events. Certain accounting estimates are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the financial statements and because of the possibility that future events affecting them may differ significantly from those expected. There were no sensitive estimates affecting the financial statements.

DISCLOSURES

The disclosures to the financial statements are neutral, consistent, and clear. Certain financial statement disclosures are particularly sensitive because of their significance to the users of the financial statements. The most sensitive disclosures affecting the financial statements are:

- Disclosure 3(B) - Grants Receivable and Unearned
- Disclosure 3(F) - Leases
- Disclosure 3(G) - 911 Equipment Fund
- Disclosure 4(A) - Risk Management
- Disclosure 4(E) - Postemployment Healthcare Plan

CORRECTED AND UNCORRECTED MISSTATEMENTS

Professional standards require us to accumulate all misstatements identified during the audit, other than those that are trivial, and communicate them to the appropriate level of management. Further, professional standards require us to also communicate the effect of uncorrected misstatements related to prior periods on the relevant classes of transactions, account balances or disclosures, and the financial statements as a whole. The attached schedule summarizes uncorrected misstatements, including omitted disclosures, of the financial statements. Those uncorrected misstatements (including the current year effect of prior periods' uncorrected misstatements), in the aggregate decreased change in net position of the fiduciary funds by $1,620 and decreased net position by $55,222. Management has determined these uncorrected misstatements and omitted disclosures are not material, both individually and in the aggregate, to the financial statements taken as a whole. Uncorrected misstatements or matters underlying those uncorrected misstatements could potentially cause future-period financial statements to be materially misstated, even though the uncorrected misstatements are immaterial to the financial statements currently under audit.

In addition, professional standards require us to communicate to you all material, corrected misstatements that were brought to the attention of management as a result of our audit procedures. There were no corrected misstatements made during the audit as all adjustments were provided by management.

Auditor Communications

OTHER REQUIRED COMMUNICATIONS

- No circumstances affected the form and content of our independent auditors' report
- No significant matters resulted in consultation outside our engagement team
- There were no significant difficulties in dealing with management in performing or completing our audit
- There were no disagreements with management related to financial accounting, reporting or auditing matters
- Management didn't consult with other independent accountants

However, in accordance with such standards, we have read the information and considered whether such information, or the manner of its presentation, was materially inconsistent with its presentation in the financial statements.
